THE DODDS TRIAL.

Submitted to the Jury Yesterday Afternoon.

NO VERDICT AT LATEST ADVICES.

An Able Prosecution and Defense-Th Train Robbers Sentenced - Other Business.

In the proceedings in the Dodds case at Provo on Friday evening (continued from our last report), Edward Wilkins testified that Dodds kicked Crane on the head. Dodds remarked as he kicked some such re-mark as "Cook him and eat him."

Cross-examined-Perhaps two dozen were there when the remark last mentioned was made. Named, as being as near as he was at the time, Cover, Harrison, Stan-

The court refused to allow Mr. Dickson

The court refused to allow Mr. Dickson to press the witness further on this point. Exception taken.

Did not see Coombs in the street when he went to the salcon.

James Harrison next called: Knew Mr. Dodds. Was at Brown's salcon on the 15th of November last. Saw deceased there. Had his head leaning on a hitching post. Saw defondant come out as soon as I got there. I heard shooting and went out Saw one shot fired after I got out. Saw Dodds went in the salcon. Dodds said, "Wake up," or "Get up, you = of a b—." After that Dodds went in the salcon. Dodds said, "Cut a silce off the bedy and cook it," or same thing of that kind.

G. C. Rich testified: I five at Vernal; and a farmer and was an official last falt. I was attending Hatch's store near by, which heard a shot fired. I rashed out, and went to the salcon. I know defendant I didn't see him at that time; saw him afterwards. I saw the body elying on the ground, heiped carry it into the butchershop. I examined the body but found nearms; did find a small penknife in his pocket. The dead man had a vest on butno coat. When I first set I had been removed. I saw the body was swill quity cring, and when I came back from the store it had been removed. I saw the body was swill quity cring, and when I came back from the store it had been removed. I saw the body when stripped. There was a wound on the right side of the head, two in the centre of the bireast, are a little below these and one in the arm. I asked what should be done with the body. Mr. Dodds patted me on the irouth worthing, an unsophisticated youth, testified: I saw Mr. Dodd standing to the pattern for more representable of the parties from moving the hody. After wards Mr. A. A. Hatch, myself and others arried the body in and scarched it.

Marrim Worthing, an unsophisticated youth, testified: I saw Mr. Dodd standing to the sweet given in mice and subject on the vestidies of the pattern worthing, an unsophisticated youth, testified: I saw Mr. Dodd standing to the sweet side of the pattern worthing, an unsophis came up, and George Sutherhard made the opening statement for the defendant. The first witness for the defense was Walter Moore. He said he had lived at Meah about elever years. Have seen the man William Crane. He was about five feet ten in height, dark complexioned. Had a finger off his hand; g. Q.—What was his reputation? (Prosecution objected to defouse being allowed to show the reputation of deceased; authorities were cited on both sides and after a zitt between Dickson and Varian, the objection was austained.)

or defense called Mr. Coup: I know de-lant; his reputation as to being peacon-ind quiet is good.
The peak of the beard several ons speak of his character; could rec-persons speak in the character, count rec-cilect but one such.

Mr. Baser testified that defendant's rep-nantion in Unitah county was good.

Mr. Deltman knew defendant and have known him since 1577; his reputation is become an immensely nogalar shopping resort for the ladies. They have a been that he foundation had been half, sais he knew that the foundation had been half, sais he knew the reputation of decensed and it was bad. I knew him at Mosh about a year or so before. Saw that he had one finger gone. Didn't see him many times. Mr. Jas. Luster, a farmer from Mosh Saw Crane about a year ago, several times. His general reputation was bad. Don't know the color of his eyes. Hair was dark. Don't know his wought. I meyer saw anything hoisferous or bad about him, but people said he was bad. Defendant recalled. Didn't have my pistol in my hand on the perch. Worthing didn't tell the truth about that. It wasn't because I intended to kill him that I wasn't because I intended to kill him that asaid.

John H. Shaffer, a stockman from Mosh knew Crane about a year ago. His general acceptance to her year ago. His general acceptance in the property of the ladies. The property is a light as Stockman from Mosh knew Crane about a year ago. His general acceptance to the resonance of the property of the ladies. The ladies are some finite and the heads of the stablishment to see that patron; was a supply attended to.

Housels, Venetian, and Irish noint lace.

John H. Shaffer, a stockman from Moab know Crane about a your ago. His general reputation then was bad.

The defense here rested and the court teck a recoss for five minutes and the jury stroiled out under the protecting wing of a couple of bailiffs. When they returned the court announced that by agreement of the lawyers a recess would be taken till 7 pm, at which time Mr. Evans will likely make the opening argument before the jury for the prosecution.

At the opening of the court at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening, Mr. Evans arose from Hinstin next Sunday and bring them for the prosecution.

At the opening of the court at 7 octock of Wednesday evening, Mr. Evans more and addressed the "gentlemen of the jury" in his usual earnest manner. He chaimed that the facts would warrant a venice of murder in the first degree and after reviewing the testimony at length claimed that this was one of the most cruel and cold blooded murders in the annuls of crime.

Mr. Dickson followed for the defense, rapidly recting fact after fast and unyaveling his theory of the case with two derival rapidity. His cloquence at times became togething and the mest minute circumstance of the case in his hands was turned to make a link in his plausible terry. For an hour and a half be was libened to with rapt attention.

At 10:15 p.m. the court adjourned till 5:30 Thursday morning.

defense, in a general way commented upon the law and the evidence in the case.

The closing argument was made by Mr. Varian, who, after showing that the highest and best citizen in the land was no more justified than the humblest and meanest in taking the life of a human being, thundered over the herrors of the shooting of the drowsy, drunken wretch, the pouring of bullets into the bedy after it had fallen, the ricking of the same and the cannibalistic proposition to reast and est the body. He closed his argument at 2 o'clock, and Judge Judd at once read his charge to the jury, occupying three quarters of an hour, so at 2.45 the jury retired for deliberation.

2.45 the jury retired for deliberation.

THE THAIN ROBBERS SENTENCED.

Edward Fisher and Joseph Nay, the cowboy kids who held up the train at Thompson Springs recently, were brought into court in chains, but were unmanacied long emough to listen to the reading of the tiddletment. They beth promptly chiered a bleas of guilty and stood ready for sentence.

They were questioned by Mr. Varian as to whether they understood the full force and consequences of such a pieu, to which they realised that they did. Fisher had no statement to make, but May was sorry he had not into trauble and would try to do bether whom he got out of it. The former was given seven years in the Peninentary and the latter five and a half. Fisher, with a smile, took his seak and assisted the officer in fastening the chain upon his anides, but the youth Nay looked sick and disappointed.

Colonist Sleepers.

The Union Pacific railway also known as The Overland Route, has lately added to its service a number of new cars (which by the way are built by the world famous Pullman Company) entitled Colonist Sleepers, and which for convenience and comfortance little behind the handsome Pullman Palace car. The cars are designed for the use and comfort of the colonist, who with his family intend moving west to grow up with the country.

The only difference between these cars and the regular first-class Pullman is that the Colonist sleeper is not uphoistered. There are fourteen sections in each car, and separate toller rooms for ladies and gentle men. At night, by means of sliding headboards and beavy damask-curtains, as much privacy is secured as if in the regular first-class sleeper. Plenty of fresh, clean towels and a good supply of water are also to be found. A uniformed porter accompanies each car tolook after the comfort and attend to the wants of the passengers, and no smoking is allowed. It certainly seems that forcheap and commodious sleeping accommodations, while traveling, these cars cannot be excelled.
